

The Puppet Master Index 1946 – 2019

Produced for the British Puppet & Model Theatre Guild and the National Puppetry Archive by
Ray DaSilva

Introduction

The Puppet Master has been produced continuously by the Guild since 1946, sometimes monthly, bimonthly, haphazardly and then annually. Before World War II the Guild published Notes and News, and then during the war The Wartime Bulletin, the contents of these are not included in this index.

Most people will not be aware of the hours of work undertaken by the succession of editors over the years, especially in the pre-digital age; even so, its compilation today producing the high standard magazine with many colour photos is still no mean feat. We owe a great debt to all the editors for providing a record of Guild members' work and of other puppetry activities in Britain, with news, views and technical information. Some of the articles had to be written by the editors themselves when efforts to cajole others to contribute had not been sufficiently fruitful.

Some of the Puppet Master material could be seen as ephemeral; nevertheless it is still an important record which will form part of the National Puppetry Archive. The collection is a valuable resource for puppetry historians and researchers providing they know where to look! That's where this index comes in. There have been many occasions when we have been asked for information relating to a long-deceased puppeteer by someone researching family history, or by a puppeteer looking to solve a technical problem. Many leads and answers have been found in the pages of The Puppet Master via this combined index of 146 issues to date.

How the index works

The references are shown thus: 15/9/4* which means volume 15, issue 9, and page 4. The asterisk indicates an article containing a photograph – which were not so numerous in the early issues. Articles with line drawings only are indicated by a circumflex like this: 8/3/13^.

A slight complication is the first series of four volumes (26 issues) prior to the current series. In order to identify them the references from the first series begin with a solidus (forward slash). For example; /2/3/4 indicates volume 2, issue 3, page 4 of the first series; whereas 2/3/4 relates to the same location in the current series. In the first series where the centre pages of illustrations are not numbered, the page number immediately previous have been indicated.

It was impractical to reference every time a person's name appears in the magazine because this index would have run into many more pages and taken too long to prepare. Similarly, listings of companies' bookings and names of short skits and variety turns have been limited to those felt to be particularly significant. The downside of this is that names of many volunteers who helped at exhibitions and performed occasional turns at Guild meetings have not, with regret, received any credit here. So, apologies to those left out.

Authors of articles are shown in bold type, and the list of references beneath their names may also include reviews of their performances and articles written about them by others. Titles of puppet productions and those in other media but which include puppetry are listed in italics.

You will doubtless find imperfections, inconsistencies and idiosyncrasies in the choice of entries so if you have comments please let me know. A few errors in the consecutive numbering of issues have been taken care of by using the identifiers supplied by the late Guild Archivist, Tom Howard. The ambiguities in the numbering are identified in the authenticated list of issues below by referring to the front cover illustration.

I realise that only a few people will have the need for this index, but hope that future archivists and researchers will find it a useful aid to their work.
